<sup>1</sup> Among the accepting ballots for General Unsecured Claims, some voters submitted ballots exceeding the permitted amount based on their number of claims; only the allowable ballots were counted. Seven late-submitted ballots were received on July 30, 2025, all voting to "Accept," but were excluded from the vote count. Additionally, one ballot was submitted without indicating acceptance or rejection and was also excluded from the count.

ADDENDUM TO CHAPTER 11 COMPUTATIONS

EPIC Companies Midwest, LLC, EPIC Companies Midwest 2023, LLC, EPIC Employee, LLC, EOLA Capital, LLC, and EC West Fargo, LLC (collectively, the “Debtors”) filed its Amended Plan of Liquidation on June 11, 2025 (the “Plan.”) (ECF No. 366.). The Court approved the Debtors’ Amended Disclosure Statement (ECF No. 367) on June 11, 2025, and established a voting deadline of July 29, 2025. (ECF No. 369). The Debtors served the Plan, disclosure statement, and ballots on all parties-in-interest on June 24, 2025. (ECF No. 394.) The Debtors received a total of 137 ballots<sup>2</sup>. The Debtors submit this Addendum to provide further information regarding the tabulation of ballots in this case.

Allowed claim amounts supersede amounts on ballots. As a general principle, ballots do not function as proofs of claim or otherwise modify claims. Because holders of claims are entitled to vote the amount of their allowed claims as of the time of voting, the ballot tabulation ignores the amount provided by the creditor on the ballot and substitutes the current allowed amount of the claim. Lisanti v. Lubetkin (In re Lisanti Foods, Inc.), 329 B.R. 491, 505 (Bankr. D.N.J. 2005) (“[I]t was appropriate for the Trustee to tabulate votes and dollar amounts according to each creditor's allowed claim as opposed to the amount on the ballot.”). If the creditor filed no proof of claim, the current allowed amount of the creditor's claim is the amount listed on a debtors' schedules. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3003(b)(1). Where a proof of claim is filed, the amount indicated on the proof of claim supersedes the scheduled amount and is used as the voted amount. 11 U.S.C. § 502(a). The Chapter 11 Computation follows this rule unless the Plan itself provides for a specified amount for an allowed claim.
